millions of people go to work each day some unhappily if they don't like what they're doing or it doesn't interest them others only concerned about the pay they will receive and the financial rewards while others are an example of what hannah arendt calls the animal laborans workers who have no other objective or aim than the very work that life has placed before them and which they carry out by natural inclination or by inertia at a higher level is the figure of the homo faber the person who works with a wider view with the aim of making a business or a project a success sometimes seeking personal affirmation but often with the noble aspiration of serving others and serving society as a whole christians ought to be in this last category and even higher if they really are christians they will not see themselves as slaves or as paid workers but as children of god for whom work is a vocation and a divine mission to be carried out for love and with love work is man's vocation the place for his development as a child of god further it is the matter of his sanctification and the fulfillment of his apostolic mission hence the christian should not be afraid of effort or tiredness but should embrace them with joy a joy that has its roots in the shape of the cross the last sentence comes from st josemaría escrivá the saint who taught us to sanctify our work turning it into nothing less than the work of god the pages of this book are inspired by his message or rather they are inspired by the message of the gospel since st josemaría did nothing other than to teach us the words and life of jesus above all in his years spent in nazareth working with st joseph from whom he learnt to work as an artisan and with our lady who served him with her work in the home this book explores the geography of religion and the space of the sacred in the dynamics of the different manifestations of contemporary christianity in the face of the growth of protestantism for this the analysis of the spirituality of opus dei is prioritized and the history of the emergence of the roman doctrine and its dissemination until the present day is detailed in order to understand the evolution of western civilization a sensitive approach to its religious spatiality is necessary this spatiality manifests itself concretely in its territory transforming the landscape of the place continuously over time with this in mind the book promotes a geographical discussion which identifies the possible causes of the decline of catholicism in brazil as well as analyzing the catholic church's loss of believers and territories por qué un libro de fuentes por qué es útil su lectura por qué acaba de publicarse con estas breves impresiones pretendo contestar a estos interrogantes existen varias biografías sobre el fundador del opus dei el beato josemaría escrivá pero no una historia seleccionada que permita analizar en el tiempo escaso para una institución de
